Collaborating to Deliver Excellence in Teaching

Race Equity Workshop Programme

We are delighted to offer a new and innovative workshop programme specifically developed for Greenwich school leaders. There will be 25 spaces, and each participant will need to commit to attend four workshops through the 23/24 academic year, with individual and collaborative work between workshops, although this will be limited.

The programme is being run by the consultancy, Equitura, who specialise in working with organisations, including in the education sector, on issues pertaining to culture, diversity and social equity. If you participated in our Summer training on race equity, you will recall it being led by Laura Durrant, one of the Partners at Equitura, who will be delivering these workshops with her team and in collaboration with Hemisphere Education (part of Rare Recruitment and specialists in training provision to schools on race equity). Access to the online Hemisphere training course will be provided as part of this programme.

Objective of programme: Participants will be part of a unique cohort working together to identify, understand, and challenge barriers to race equity. Through providing training and insights on race equity in an educational setting, leaders will be equipped to build a long term, impactful and resilient race equity action plan for their individual school.

Outcomes: All participants will leave with a robust race equity plan for their school and be part of the production of a guidance note for schools in Greenwich to amplify the reach of the programme.

Dates and Venue: 4x morning workshops for senior leaders (9:30-12pm) at Wingfield Primary School

Thursday 16th November 2023
